

Communication Chair:

Louise Brooker-Carey, Director of Communications

Tube Lines is responsible for maintaining and upgrading the infrastructure of the Jubilee, Northern and Piccadilly lines.

Tube Lines took over responsibility on 31 December 2002 and is carrying out a massive improvement programme, committing more than £4.4bn to improve its lines.

Louise is responsible for all Tube Lines' communications, including media relations, public affairs, internal communications, community relations, corporate identity, branding and marketing. Prior to joining Tube Lines, Louise worked in the telecoms industry where she gained experience of corporate communications, public relations and marketing.
